

Everyday Holiness

Week 1 · Introduction to the Assessments

This is your first worksheet. Before we build anything, we begin by looking honestly at how God made you. Your Soul Portrait is not a verdict -- it is a mirror, and an invitation. Fill in your results below, then move slowly through the reflections. There are no wrong answers here. There is only what is true.

YOUR SOUL PORTRAIT

TEMPERAMENT	FAULT	CHARISMS	SABOTEURS

Write your top results in each box above, straight from your Soul Portrait.

WHAT THESE FOUR THINGS MEAN

Your temperament is how God wired you -- how you were made before the world got to you. Your predominant fault is where the fall bent that wiring; it is not your worst self, but the distortion of your greatest strength. Your charisms are what the Holy Spirit deposited in you for the good of others. And your saboteurs are the patterns fear built on top -- the inner voices that sound like truth but are only trying to protect you. None of these four things are your identity. Your identity is: beloved daughter of God.

"You are fearfully and wonderfully made." -- Psalm 139:14

HOW TO USE THIS WORKSHEET

Work through the reflections slowly. You do not need to answer every question in one sitting. Watch the Week 1 video first, then bring what stirred in you to these pages. Come to your coaching session with this worksheet completed and one question about your Soul Portrait that you want to explore together.

"Before I formed you in the womb I knew you." -- Jeremiah 1:5

WEEK 1

R -- Reality

"You will know the truth, and the truth will set you free." -- John 8:32

Reality is where the R.O.O.T.E.D. Model begins -- because you cannot bring to God a life you are not willing to see honestly. This week, as you receive your Soul Portrait, the practice is simple: look at what is actually true about how God made you, without the story attached to it. Not "I am broken" -- but "this is my fault, and here is the strength underneath it." The truth is enough. The story is what makes it unbearable.

MORNING REFLECTION · WEEK 1

When you first read your Soul Portrait, what was your gut reaction -- before you had time to think about it?

What felt immediately true? What felt like a stretch or surprised you?

Which part made you most uncomfortable -- and what did you recognize in it?

Your fault is the distortion of your greatest strength. What is the good, God-given strength hiding underneath your fault?

GOING DEEPER · CHARISMS & SABOTEURS

Where have other people already confirmed one of your charisms -- told you that something shifted in them because of you?

Which saboteur's voice do you recognize as "just how I think"? Write down exactly what it says to you.

What would it look like to receive your Soul Portrait as good news -- as God showing you how He made you on purpose?

EVENING R.O.O.T.E.D. EXAMEN

End your day by walking through the model. A sentence or two for each is enough.

R Reality -- What was actually true today -- just the facts?

O Origin -- Where did my strongest feeling come from?

O Overflow -- What was overflowing from me today?

T Turning -- Where did I turn toward God? Where did I turn away?

E

Election -- What did I choose? What did I want to choose but didn't?

D

Dwelling -- Where did I feel most rooted and known today?
